

World Book Day 2022

Here at Grangetown, we love reading and celebrating high quality books. World Book Day is no different so this year, all of the children were given a plain white T-shirt, and we had lots of conversations about what made a book our favourite, which characters we really liked and which quotes resonated with us. All of the children designed a special t-shirt to wear during the day, and the results were fantastic. The children all talked about their t-shirts at break time which meant all of the children were involved in discussions about their favourite books. There was definitely an interesting mixture of books across the school.

Each teacher planned special events and activities throughout the day. However, all children learnt a poem to recite. Teachers then recorded these so that they could be enjoyed by all of the classes. We have some fantastic poetry readers at Grangetown!

As well as the T-shirts, we did our usual class swap, where children read to children from another class. It's always wonderful to hear the younger children reading to the older children.
